From the Principal's Desk

Next week is Thanksgiving week so Wednesday, November 22 will be an early release day (11:05) and, there will be no school the following 2 days. I hope you enjoy the time with your students and families.

Here are our Attendance winners who were picked randomly from all of the students who were present, not tardy, or dismissed since November 1st. We will provide more winners to you next week for this week's students. Stay tuned.

When you see them please congratulate them.

Nettle Winners:

Cruz, Amaya

Villar Cruz, Elier

Math Coach:

Grade Level Curriculum Update:

Grade 5 students are currently working on addition and subtraction with fractions. They are learning how to find equivalent fractions with common denominators.

Grade 6 students are currently working on operations with fractions and multi-digit numbers and applying the learned skills to word problems.

Grade 7 students are currently working on operations with rational numbers. They are practicing the rules of negative and positive numbers.

Grade 8 students are currently working on transformations on the coordinate plane; translations, rotations, and reflections.

Science News

Each grade level in science is continuing their studies in the following topics:

Grade 5 Matter and its Interactions

Grade 6 Density

Grade 7 Ecosystems

Grade 8 Earth's Materials

Please ask your student about some of the experiments or activities that are being conducted in their science classes.

ELA News

In grades 6 and 7 students are wrapping up some essay writing and working on introductions and conclusions to argumentative writing. Eighth grade is completing a writing piece on literary analysis.

The essential questions students have been talking about as they read are: What makes you, you?; What do we learn from love and loss; How do relationships shape us?

Grade 5 is working on the novel Thunder Rolling in the Mountains - a story about the Nez Perce tribe being moved from their land in Washington state. The story is told from the perspective of the Chief's daughter.

Hope you use this information to reinforce the reflective practices we are working on in school.
